

ABSTRACT

A front shipping hook assembly comprises a mounting unit and a front shipping hook. The front shipping hook has a vertical supporting member that is coupled to a side portion of the mounting unit and a horizontal supporting member that is coupled to a lower portion of the mounting unit. Because the front shipping hook is coupled to the mounting unit and the vehicle body through the vertical supporting member and the horizontal mounting member, a concentration of stress can be minimized.